

Database Services at the NGS

The NGS offers a FREE database service for UK academics. A dedicated database team based at RAL and the University of Manchester are on hand to help you make the most of your data.

Key points are:

- Database service on new hardware
- Oracle Database v11
- Direct access via JDBC (Java application)
- High availability
- Data encryption methods
- Lots of storage space for your data
- Secure backup system
- Help with tuning to improve your database and complete administration of your database
- My SQL available

If you would like to find out more about the NGS database service then please see our website at www.ngs.ac.uk or email support@grid-support.ac.uk with your requirements or requests.
